

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An exhaust emission control regeneration system regenerates a particulate filter by combusting trapped particulate and producing a combustion product from such combustion, and uses the combustion product to assist 5 regeneration of a downstream catalyst, such as CO assisting regeneration of a downstream NO_x adsorber, located in sufficiently close proximity to a diesel particulate filter.